Risk and reward profile

← Typically lower reward ← lower risk			Typically higher reward → higher risk →
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

This indicator is based on simulated historical data which may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of such Class. The categorisation of the Class in the scale is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

Why this category? The Sub-Fund is in this specific category because it has shown a medium level of volatility.

The main risks the Sub-Fund will face are credit, interest rate and currency volatility risks. An extensive outline of all the risk factors may be found under section 5 "RISK FACTORS" in the Prospectus.

In particular the following risks should be considered:

- The risk associated to interest rates fluctuation in general to the credit risk premium in particular;
- The risk of the Sub-Fund's assets market value, which depends on: (i) the long term interest rates behaviour (ii) the default risk classification of the securities issuers and (iii) the creditworthiness of the issuer.
- Liquidity risk: the risk that some securities may not be sold at normal price and time conditions on a market. The sub-fund may invest in high yield or sub-investment grade securities. Investment in such higher yielding securities is speculative as it generally entails increased credit, market risk and liquidity risk.
